

Russian Antique Soviet Porcelain Teapot £7,500.00

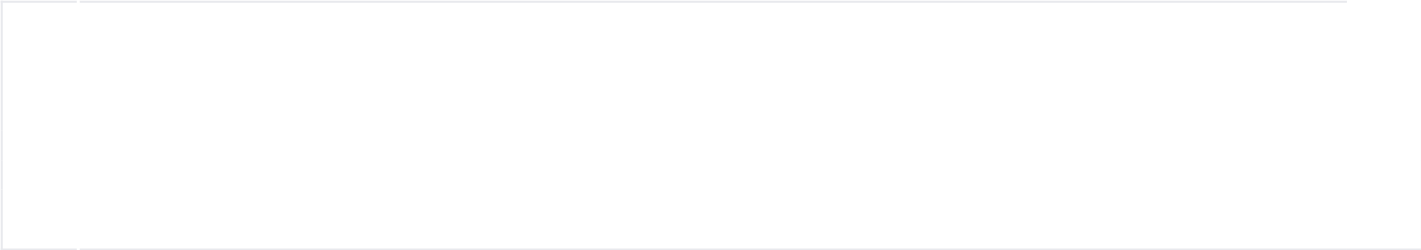

Russian Antique Soviet Porcelain Teapot 1929 by Tatiana Seidenberg.
St Peterburg Imperial Porcelain Factory.
Later Leningrad Porcelain Factory.
Dimensions:
Height: 12cm
Length: 22cm
Width: 13cm

Seidenberg Tatyana Savelyevna (1903–?)

Daughter of the famous painting and graphics S. M. Seidenberg (1862-1942). She worked at the Leningrad Porcelain Factory from 1929 to 1933. Tatyana Seidenberg's application for a job in the painting workshop of composition was considered at a meeting of the artistic council of the LFZ on October 12, 1929. Mikhailov, one of the members of the artistic council, noted: "Involving Seidenberg to work in a painting workshop would be highly desirable, since the freshness and originality of her work promises an interesting porcelain artist in the future." Mikhailov's proposal was supported by R. F. Vilde and Z. V. Kobyletskaya.

To a greater extent, Tatyana Seidenberg became a collector as a sculpture artist. In particular, she painted figurines of N. Ya. Danko, T. O. Davtyan, O. M. Manuilova and other sculptors. The price lists mention several paintings by Seidenberg: tea pairs "Blue Board", "Lady in a Dress", "Matter" and others. The artist signed their work with the initiatives "T. 3." or a complete family with the beginning of the name "T. Seidenberg", as a rule, with a drop in temperature.

Origin	Russian
Period	1920s

Condition

Excellent

Dimensions

Dimensions: Height: 12cm Length: 22cm Width: 13cm

Antique ref: Russian Antique Soviet Porcelain Teapot