

Silver & Green Chalcedony Cuff | Arts & Crafts c.1930s POA

This beautifully hand-wrought silver bangle from 1930s England captures the spirit of the Arts & Crafts movement with precision and grace.

Set with vibrant green cabochon-cut chalcedony stones, each oval gem is framed by raised silverwork in a delicate floral motif - a celebration of nature, symmetry, and skilled craftsmanship.

The fine detailing continues around the band, where softly repoussé panels are bordered by twisted silver wire, adding texture without excess.

Made in Britain and stamped "SILVER," this piece is both wearable and historically resonant.

The bangle measures approximately 2cm in width and 6cm in internal diameter, with a secure hinge and original safety chain.

It is unmistakably Arts & Crafts in spirit: handcrafted, quietly bold, and rich in the design ideals that defined the movement.

A rare and resonant example of 1930s studio jewellery - tactile, collectable, and made to last.

Available exclusively at ELTONS, Grays Antique Market, Mayfair, London.
