

Victorian Amber and Etruscan Style Gold Bracelet in Fitted Case, by Richard A. Green, Circa 1875 £19,000.00

An antique amber and gold bracelet, with large amber beads, with gold discs either side, decorated with Etruscan style wirework, with single oval gold links, in a Richard A. Green fitted case, with gold M. A. S. initials, in gothic script, circa 1875.

Richard Angell Green traded from 82 Strand, WC. He was elected as a member of the Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufacturers and Commerce in 1859. He was a noted exhibitor at the International Exhibitions of 1862 and 1872. His address appears in the 1862 Post Office directory. He applied for a patent for the design or production of earrings, on 31st December, 1870. He sold classical pieces, mostly for less than £20 a piece. He was the nephew of the manufacturing silversmith Joseph Angell.
