

Art Deco Diamond Circle Brooch in Platinum & 18ct Gold | English c.1920s POA

A beautiful Art Deco brooch, made in Europe around the 1920s and set with a total of 4.42 carats of antique diamonds.

Designed as an open circle, the brooch is pavé set with old European and single cut diamonds, anchored on each side by two horizontal rows of baguette cuts.

The mix of cuts adds subtle depth and texture, a hallmark of the period's clean, architectural style.

The setting is platinum over 18ct gold, a classic construction of the era that offers both durability and softness.

The diamonds are bright, well-matched, and full of character, graded H–I in colour and VS2 in clarity.

Measuring 3.5cm across and weighing 8.7g, the brooch is finely made and sits close to the fabric.

A beautiful, elegant piece, and brings light to any outfit.
