£2,450.00

Watch: CWC 6BB Military Chronograph

Price: £2450.00

Stock Number: CHW6161

A sterile dial CWC 6BB Vintage Military Chronograph that is all likelihood would have seen service possibly in the Falklands and prior to that used by a RAF pilot.

Affectionately Known as one of the members of the esteemed 'Fab Four' group of watches from the British Military.

Yes clearly well worn and clearly seen a lot of action this CWC Chrono was without a tool that had a real purpose and one that its been used for. Battle scared and marked throughout we will list below:

Case - Unpolished and in very good all round condition

Glass - Various mark that can be clearly seen the biggest of which above 5 and 4.

Dial - Faded and natural patina throughout

Hands - Lume dropped out of the minute hand.

We believe the dial and hands to be original to the watch, pushers and crown too. Some doubt over the case back and if this was from an earlier watch that the MOD have fitted at some point before reissuing.

Movement - Manual wind Valjoux 7733 that works in great condition. Running around +20 seconds the watch can be fully serviced upon request.

Dial stamped with the T for Tritium and the MOD Broad Arrow. Sterile dial with no CWC markings unlike the movement which is clearly marked CWC.

Caseback Marked 6BB / 924-3306, Broad Arrow and 2522/72 (although as mentioned above possible earlier case).

Available now to add to any collection, priced accordingly.
