A truly fine example of this big bulky discontinued Omega Seamaster Diver watch. Dating to 2008 as the year of production and presented with original box and our 12 month warranty this watch is in excellent condition throughout (9/10 for a watch of this age) and near perfect working order running at +/- 3 seconds per day with healthy amplitude of over 350.

A nod to Omega's Maritime history this watch has been pressure tested to 100 meters and features a blue dial with distinctive red sub dial hands and seconds hand with round white luminous hour markers all produced with with diving in mind.

Blue ceramic rotating bezel on a 44mm stainless steel case with helium release valve.

Date window at 6 this automatic watch is powered by an Omega 3330 Calibre that gives a power reserve of up to 52 hours. Weighing in at 235g its considered a heavy watch. Domed scratchresistant sapphire crystal.

Steel bracelet with double fold clasp that houses a divers extension. Currently able to fit a wrist to 18.5cm.

Condition - Bezel, Glass and dial unblemished. light hairline marks to the bracelet and casing iflooked up close but our view would be a 9/10 for a watch of this age.

Our View - Incredible opportunity, the best price at the best condition and importantly working as if it were new! In Stock now for insured delivery or viewing in Mayfair, London.
