We are not even going to pretend or argue the case that this is not one of the cheapest vintage Omega 14389 models from the 1960's and there's a few very good reasons for that.

This Omega Seamaster 30 14389-3 in an incredible example, one of the finest examples in fact. Having just had a full overhaul its in collectors standard condition, add that to the fact it's on a new Omega black leather strap with Omega buckle and been recently service you can see why its a truly exceptional example.

Its gets better, the dial on this watch is known as a 'linen' dial and it is blemish free, we would go as far as to say as good as it could be for a watch over 60 years old! Absolutely beautiful champagne coloured linen dial with gold coloured baton hour markers and hands to match as do they on the Omega logo and subsidiary seconds dial.

35mm gold plated steel case with steel backplate proudly displaying the Omega Seamaster logo. Immaculate plexiglass.

Manual wind operating from a Calibre 269 movement as shown in the images.

Practically unworn new Omega Black Croc leather strap.

Condition - As good as it gets with a vintage watch 9/10

Our View - Just exceptional, your paying that little bit more for all the quality, condition and working order.
