What's more than a watch from the 1950's being with its original papers is the rare and unique dial on the watch. Off white or creamy colour that has naturally aged over the years the hands and the hour markers and gold coloured as is the Rolex name on the dial. Marked 'Swiss Made ' and 'Shock-Resistant'.

Working fine at +20 seconds per day. 34mm stainless steel case with smooth steel bezel. Rolex signed crown. Fitted to a Rolex steel bracelet that shows some signs of age but is perfectly usable. This is the riveted expandable bracelet thought to be original to the watch and will fit a wrist to 17.5cm.

Manual wind, Calibre 710.

Condition - Exceptional for the age of this watch. Dial shows natural discolouration and bracelet shows wear as described but overall and considering the age we think this watch is exceptional.
