

18ct Gold Diamond Ring date circa 1960, SHAPIRO & Co since 2001
£675.00

1960s rings featured both a renewed love for classic, simple styles and a bold embrace of unconventional materials and colourful gemstones, influenced by social change and iconic figures. While platinum and yellow gold were popular for diamonds, many chose to use silver or alternative materials like wood, steel, pearls, and brightly colored acrylics. The era also saw a shift from simple settings to bolder, three-dimensional cluster rings, often with a prominent central stone.

Period	1960s
Materials	Yellow Gold
Main Gemstone	Diamond
Carat for Gold	18 K

Antique ref: Lilly's Attic / SHAPIRO & Co