A truly quite rare reference vintage Omega this one is certainly not the cheapest available however with good reason. Let us explain a little more about this Omega Seamaster Cosmic 2000 reference 366.0825.

We have just put this watch through a complete service, now running at around +6/7 seconds per day its in exceptional working order and most likely wont need a service for many years. We offer a 12 month guarantee with this watch.

Condition wise this watch is excellent, the dial shows very little discolouration and although the case and bracelet have been left unpolished they are of course in excellent all round condition. Yes marks and blemishes will be visible but certainly nothing detrimental to the watch or significant.

Accompanied with its original inner and outer box in wonderfull condition unlike many others that still exist. Also the original manual and dated warranty Papers are included with the watch first sold in Kensington London in 1974 (serial number dates production to 1971).

38mm stainless steel case fitted to original integrated bracelet with fold clasp, will fit a wrist to 17.5cm with a couple of links in the box. Silver dial with silver baton hour markers that match the hands. Automatic serviced movement operating from Calibre 1012.

Our View - You really are paying for what you get here, a full set, serviced in exceptional condition vintage Omega Seamaster Cosmic!
