Call that dial what you like but we are going to refer to it as 'burnt' dial colour, Patina, aged, discoloured all could be used whatever has caused the dial to go that colour its our assumption it was natural and we are going to leave it just as it is.

Omega reference 2900 this watch has been dated to 1958 by the serial number. 35mm stainlesssteel case that houses the manual wind calibre 267 movement which is working just fine having been through our workshop.

Generic high quality leather strap fitted although this could be changed, original Omega crown. Accompanied with a 12 month guarantee and insured shipping.

Whatever you think of that dial its certainly unique!
