This Vintage 9ct yellow gold Omega has just had a full service, fitted to a new blue leather strap (can be changed upon request) and offered with a 12 month guarantee and next day shipping presented in our watch pouch.

35mm case with a silver dial that has gold coloured baton hour markers and a gold crown. Operating from the legendary 552 calibre from Omega its had the full service to be in excellent working order. Automatic movement.

Dial shows some discolouration as you can see from the images however its original to the watch and is what can be expected of a watch produced in 1962. Its party of its story and history.

Overall condition of the case is very good for the age with no marks or dents of note. Strap is new and unworn.

In our view this watch from the 60's is excellent value considering the gold content and the full service with guarantee. You can decide if that's worth paying a little more :)
