

Antique Imperial Topaz Diamond Cluster Ring - Saddingtons Jewellery
Stand 375
£1,695.00

Antique Imperial Topaz Diamond Cluster Ring. This beautiful antique Imperial Topaz and Diamond Cluster Ring dates to late Victorian era circa 1900 and is crafted in rich 18ct yellow gold. At its centre sits a stunning cushion-cut Imperial topaz weighing approximately 3.00 carats, displaying the warm golden-orange peachy hues that have made this rare gemstone so highly prized by collectors and jewellery enthusiasts alike. The large topaz measures 10x7.5mm. Surrounding the central stone is a sparkling halo of Victorian brilliant-cut diamonds with a combined weight of approximately 0.50carats, VS1 clarity, colour G-H. The diamonds provide exceptional character and fire, complementing the warmth of the Imperial topaz and creating a timeless and elegant appearance. The classic cluster design is a style that has remained desirable for generations, offering impressive finger coverage and remarkable presence while retaining the charm and craftsmanship associated with jewellery from the turn of the twentieth century.
