

Omega Con
£995.00

If you love the distinctive design language of 1970s watchmaking, this Omega Constellation from 1975 is an absolute standout. It breaks away from the more common light-colored dials of the era, showcasing a rare, original deep blue sunburst dial that is in near perfect condition. The dial looks incredibly sharp with contrasting white hour markers and matching white hands, making it exceptionally legible while giving it a unique, punchy aesthetic against the blue backdrop. A highly practical day-date window sits neatly positioned at 3 o'clock.
The watch is housed in a solid 36mm stainless steel tonneau case that remains unpolished, preserving its original sharp factory lines, crisp edges, and correct finishes just as it left the factory. It also features its correct, original Omega-signed crown. Framing the rare blue dial perfectly is a beautiful, finely detailed fluted bezel, which catches the light brilliantly and adds an extra layer of high-end texture. The case flows seamlessly into its original, integrated stainless steel Omega bracelet, creating that cohesive, sporty-elegant look that completely defines this era of luxury design.
Under the hood, it is powered by the high-grade Omega Calibre 1022 automatic movement. Ticking away smoothly and keeping great time, it's a true testament to the fact that Omega’s dedication to rock-solid engineering was alive and well in the '70s. Between the rare, immaculate blue dial, unpolished case, crisp fluted bezel, and integrated bracelet, this is a striking, highly collectible vintage piece that is just as easy to wear every day as it is to keep for special occasions.

Key Specifications:
Model: Constellation
Reference: 168.0054
Circa: 1975 (Verified by 39,019,450 Serial Number)
Case Size: 36mm (excluding crown)
Material: Stainless Steel case (Unpolished)
Crown: Original Omega-signed crown
Bezel: Detailed Fluted Bezel
Dial: Rare Original Blue Sunburst (Near Perfect Condition) with White Hour Markers & White Hands
Crystal: Acrylic
Movement: Mechanical Automatic (Omega Calibre 1022)
Functions: Hours, Minutes, Central Seconds, Day-Date
Bracelet: Original Integrated Stainless Steel Omega Bracelet
Condition: Excellent vintage condition with minor age-related wear
Inclusions: Watch Only (Box & Papers Not Included)

Condition and service: serviced by our in-house watchmaker and keeps good time. On its original integrated stainless steel bracelet, in excellent vintage condition with only minor wear for its age. Sold as the watch only.

Antique ref: 058