

Seiko Ladie
£100.00

If you are looking for a vintage piece that breaks away from the usual silver and gold, this ladies Seiko is an absolute standout. Dating back to October 1969, this watch perfectly captures that vibrant, expressive style transitioning into the 1970s.

The immediate highlight is the dial. It features a striking, fresh cherry-like purple color that brings an amazing burst of energy to the wrist. It’s rich, fun, and gives the watch a unique personality you rarely see on vintage timepieces from this era. Adding to its practicality, the dial is equipped with a clean day-date function at 3 o'clock—a fantastic, premium feature for a ladies' mechanical watch of this size.

Under the hood, it is powered by a reliable, manual-wind Seiko movement. There’s something incredibly satisfying about the daily ritual of winding a mechanical watch, and this one runs flawlessly. The watch comes paired with its classic stainless steel strap and is completed with its original, signed Seiko buckle.

It’s the perfect combination of reliable Japanese engineering and bold retro charm, ready to add a gorgeous pop of color to any outfit.

Key Specifications:
Model: Vintage Ladies Manual Wind
Reference: 2119-0100-P
Year: 1969
Dial: Original Fresh Cherry-Purple Dial
Functions: Hours, Minutes, Central Seconds, Day, Date
Movement: Mechanical Manual Wind
Strap/Bracelet: Stainless Steel Strap with Original Seiko Buckle
Inclusions: Watch Only

Condition and service: serviced by our in-house watchmaker and running well. In used condition and sold as the watch only.

Antique ref: 066