Stand 375
£4,490.00

Kutchinsky Yellow Gold Textured Earrings. A striking pair of vintage Kutchinsky earrings crafted in 18ct yellow gold and hallmarked London 1962. Featuring an elegant sculptural design with deeply textured surfaces, these earrings perfectly showcase the bold, organic aesthetic that became synonymous with the celebrated London jeweller. The flowing form is enhanced by Kutchinsky's distinctive bark-like engraving, creating a rich texture that catches and reflects the light beautifully. Despite their substantial appearance, the earrings retain a graceful, wearable profile and are fitted with secure clip and post fittings for comfort. They weigh 17.9g and measure 3cm. Founded in London in the late nineteenth century, Kutchinsky became renowned for exceptional craftsmanship, innovative design and luxurious goldwork. Pieces from the 1950s and 1960s are particularly sought after by collectors and jewellery enthusiasts, reflecting the firm's reputation as one of Britain's finest post-war jewellers. An elegant and highly collectable pair of vintage designer earrings from one of London's most respected jewellery houses.
