Our View

In our view, this is exactly what a vintage GMT?Master II should be. Unpolished, original and showing the honest signs of a life well lived, while retaining all the key features collectors value most.

The combination of the 1991 N serial, original Tritium dial, creamy patina, and original Coke bezel insert makes this a particularly desirable example. These early 16710 references continue to attract increasing attention, especially when found in such original condition.

A fine example of an early GMT?Master II and a watch that remains as wearable today as it was over thirty years ago.
