

Kutchinsky Diamond Rope Knot Ring - Saddingtons Jewellery Stand 375
£3,500.00

An iconic Kutchinsky Diamond Rope Knot Ring , crafted in richly textured 18ct yellow gold and fully signed and hallmarked for London, 1972. Beautifully designed as an elegant rope knot, the ring showcases Kutchinsky's unmistakable sculptural style. Multiple strands of twisted gold are expertly woven together to form a striking knot, accented by a pavé-set diamond crossover in white gold, creating a wonderful contrast against the warm yellow gold. Founded in London in the 1890s, Kutchinsky became one of Britain's most celebrated jewellery houses during the 1960s and 1970s. Renowned for bold, luxurious designs and exceptional craftsmanship, the firm gained an international reputation for producing distinctive statement jewellery with impeccable attention to detail. Weighing an impressive 10.4 grams, this ring has a substantial feel on the hand while remaining exceptionally comfortable to wear. Its timeless knot motif symbolises strength, unity and everlasting love, making it both a meaningful and highly collectible piece. The ring can be resized.
