

Edwardian Citrine Solitaire Ring - Saddingtons Jewellery Stand 375
£395.00

A charming Edwardian Citrine Solitaire Ring, handcrafted in 9ct yellow gold and dating to the early twentieth century. The ring is centred by a beautiful round natural citrine, displaying warm golden honey tones that catch the light with every movement. The citrine is held within a simple four-claw setting, framed by an elegant twisted rope border that lends both texture and character to the design. The finely twisted rope shank complements the setting perfectly, creating a ring that is refined, balanced and unmistakably Edwardian in style. Prized for its rich golden colour, citrine became increasingly popular during the late Victorian and Edwardian periods, admired for its warmth,brilliance and versatility. Its sunny hue beautifully pairs with the warm tones of the 9ct yellow gold,creating a ring that is both elegant and effortlessly wearable. The top of the ring measures 12.2mmand can be resized.
