

Edwardian 5
£1,895.00

A sophisticated Edwardian 5 Stone Burma Ruby Ring, handcrafted in 18ct yellow gold and dating to the early twentieth century. Set with five graduated natural Burmese rubies, the ring displays the rich, vibrant pinkish-red hues for which Burmese rubies have long been celebrated. The graduating oval-cut rubies are separated by delicate old-cut diamond highlight points, adding a subtle sparkle that enhances the vivid colour of the gemstones without detracting from their beauty. The classic carved half hoop design sits comfortably on the finger and remains one of the most enduring and elegant styles of antique jewellery. For centuries, Burmese rubies have been regarded as the finest in the world, admired for their exceptional colour and rarity. Their enduring appeal has made them one of the most sought-after coloured gemstones among collectors and jewellery enthusiasts alike. The head of the ring measures 18.5mm x 0.7mm and has an elegant look on the finger. This ring can be resized.
