

Edwardian Opal Beaded Necklace 17.5 inches - Saddingtons Jewellery
Stand 375
£1,250.00

A Beautiful Edwardian Opal Beaded Necklace 17.5 inches is a great example of early 20th-century opal jewellery. It is composed of graduated opal beads with wonderful flashes of green and blue, interspersed with sparkling faceted rock crystal spacers. The beads are individually strung on contrasting green thread, a particularly charming detail that complements and enhances the natural play of colour within the opals. The necklace graduates towards the centre with larger opal beads, creating a beautifully balanced appearance when worn. To fasten there is a large circular opal clasp, set in silver and displaying its own attractive play of colour. The clasp is further secured with a safety catch, an appealing and practical period detail. An elegant and wonderfully individual Edwardian necklace, combining the ethereal colour of opal with the sparkle of rock crystal and retaining the lovely details of its traditional construction.
