Our View

The Montblanc Profile range has always been somewhat underrated, offering Swiss-made quality and timeless styling without the premium associated with many competing luxury brands.

This example won't win prizes for being mint, but that's exactly the appeal. It's an honest watch that can be worn daily without concern, and at this price point represents outstanding value. The integrated bracelet, sapphire crystal and reliable quartz movement make it an excellent choice for someone wanting a quality Swiss watch on a sensible budget.

A lot of watch for the money.
