The white dial provides a clean backdrop for the watch's sporty chronograph display, while the eye-catching green accents add a modern twist that sets this reference apart from more traditional Speedmasters. The compact 39mm case size wears comfortably on a wide range of wrists and offers a versatile presence whether paired with casual or smarter attire.

Powered by the automatic Omega Calibre 3220 movement, the watch combines reliable timekeeping with practical chronograph functionality. The sapphire crystal, robust stainless steel construction and 100-metre water resistance make it a capable daily wearer as well as an attractive addition to any collection.
