Bremont ALT1-P2-BK-R-S Chronograph Automatic 43mm Swiss Made – leather wallet

Bremont ALT1-P2-BK-R-S – A particularly special example of Bremont's acclaimed pilot's chronograph, presented with a fascinating history that perfectly reflects the purpose for which it was designed. Originally presented to a contractor working for Bremont, this watch has reportedly been flown in a US fighter jet and was subsequently used in Bremont marketing material, making it a genuine aviation tool watch with a story few modern watches can match.

This example is the desirable "Swiss Made" version of the ALT1-P2, meaning it successfully met the strict COSC chronometer certification standards. Presented in very good condition throughout and accompanied by its original leather walletstee, it represents a unique opportunity to acquire a chronometer-certified Bremont with genuine military aviation provenance.

Our View

Bremont has built its reputation on producing robust aviation-inspired watches, but few examples can genuinely claim to have lived the life they were designed for. Having reportedly been flown in a US fighter jet and used in Bremont promotional material, this ALT1-P2 possesses a level of provenance and authenticity that significantly enhances its appeal.

The ALT1-P remains one of Bremont's defining models, combining cockpit-inspired legibility with chronometer-certified precision and excellent everyday wearability. The desirable Swiss Made designation further adds to its collectability, reflecting its achievement of COSC chronometer standards during production.
