2005 CWC G10 Military Watch | British Army Issued | 36mm Stainless Steel | Quartz Movement

This CWC G10 Military Watch, dated 2005, is an original British Army-issued timepiece produced by the Cabot Watch Company (CWC) — a trusted supplier to the UK Ministry of Defence since the early 1980s.

Presented in excellent working condition, this piece is powered by a reliable quartz movement and retains its original military-issued character, complete with authentic wear and patina from decades of service.

The CWC G10 was standard-issue for the British Armed Forces throughout the 1980s and 1990s. Known for their robust build, clear legibility, and field-tested reliability, these watches are increasingly sought after by collectors and military enthusiasts. This 2005 model is a true survivor and one of the last of the classic G10s before modern revisions took over.
