

A Victorian Gold Mounted Agate Cameo Brooch
£1,875.00

depicting a lady with a Greco/Roman hairstyle. Well executed and highly detailed. Cameos were extremely popular in the 18th and 19th centuries as they were tokens of the past. There was huge interest in Archaeological finds and tourists travelled to Italy and Greece to see the marvels that were being unearthed. This example was probably carved in Naples then exported to England where it was mounted with an Etruscan style 18ct gold frame.
