

Pair of Platinum and 18ct Gold Cufflinks | Rose-Cut Diamond Laurel Motif | British c.1910
POA

A beautifully refined pair of British cufflinks, crafted circa 1910 in a harmonious pairing of platinum and 18ct yellow gold.

The circular faces are fashioned in platinum with a softly matte finish, bordered by a delicate engraved laurel motif, a timeless symbol of honour and distinction.

Nestled within the flowing design are tiny, hand-set rose-cut diamonds, adding just the right touch of shimmer without ever overpowering the form.

This is Edwardian elegance at its most subtle, light, romantic, and finely worked.

The reverse fittings are in 18ct gold, with classic bar connectors that offer both balance and understated warmth against the platinum face.

A piece made for the man who appreciates craft and restraint, these cufflinks carry a quiet grace that never tries too hard because it doesn't need to.
