

Bloodstone Shield Signet Ring | 18ct Gold | English 1909 POA

A bold and elegant Edwardian signet ring, crafted in 18ct gold by John Thompson & Sons and hallmarked Birmingham 1909.

It's set with a shield shaped bloodstone, deep green with vivid red flecks, a stone prized at the time for its carving qualities and its associations with strength, courage, and protection.

A fine example of early 20th century jewellery, it remains timeless today, with a striking contrast between the warm gold and the richly coloured stone.
