

Ruby & Rose Cut Diamond Ring | Gold & Silver | Victorian c.1850s POA

A richly coloured ruby and diamond half hoop ring, handmade in Britain circa 1850.

Five cushion cut rubies, totalling approximately 0.40 carats, are set in a scalloped silver gallery and framed by rose cut diamonds.

The stones are set low and close in a closed back mount, typical of the mid Victorian era. The ring is crafted in 9ct gold with a silver top, a combination traditionally used to enhance the brightness of the diamonds.

Romantic and vibrant, this ring wears beautifully on its own or stacked.

Currently ring size M.
