

Art Nouveau Plique à Jour Dragonfly Brooch | Garnet Eyes | French
c.1900s
POA

An exquisite French Art Nouveau silver brooch in the form of a dragonfly, dating to the early 1900s.

Its wings are rendered in delicate plique à jour enamel, a rare and technically demanding process that allows light to pass through like stained glass, giving the piece an ethereal quality.

The brooch is further accented with vivid cabochon garnet eyes.

A standout example of naturalistic Art Nouveau design and expert craftsmanship.
