

Antique lavender jade carved oil censer
POA

Beautiful oriental Foo dog vase is made of lavender and green jade stone. Look at the colour of the burner - this is a rare museum quality jade. Such a colour scheme will look good in any interior design. It will be a great detail for your home. The burner consists of three parts - a vase, a top and a wooden base. The vase has three legs, which help it to stand steadily. As you can see, there are two wings on the sides of the vase. They represent a free spirit and lightness. The vase is presented on a wooden stand. The carver made this item of the solid stone of unusual natural colour. The combination of lavender and green gives this sculpture a unique look and originality. In addition, it increases its value and cost. Since The Foo dog symbolises protection and courage, the owner of this sculpture will gain a great increase in male power and energy, confidence and prosperity.
