

Sterling Silver - Rare Pair of George Fox Barrel Cruets - 1874
£1,800.00

A wonderful example of a pair of sterling silver cruet sets on stands.

Designed and made by George Fox, the cylindrical barrel form features pierced lids on the salt and pepper and thumb opener on the mustard pots. The powder pots both have a light engraving on the sides for Salt and Pepper. Each piece has an additional family crest (a stag on a crown).

The set comes with the original hallmarked mustard spoon and matching hallmarked trefoil stand on three ball feet.

The powder pots retain traces of the original gilded interiors.

Without the original boxes.

Please see above for quantity available. Price is for the pair.

Markings: Marked for .925 sterling silver, see images above. London 1874. Total weight 476 grams.

Size: Pots measure 2" (5 cm) tall.

Condition: The set is in stunning condition, we've had them professionally polished, so in excellent order. The lids of the pots have a tight fit. Please see the images above.

Material and Technique	Sterling silver
Origin	British
Period	19th Century
Condition	Excellent
Hallmark	Fully!

Antique ref: 3BF-A69-AD1