

French Art Deco Enamel Diamond and Gold Cufflinks by Albert Clericetti, Circa 1930
£3,200.00

A pair of French, Art Deco cufflinks, by Albert Clericetti, with circular, white enamel heads, featuring a geometric design, picked out in fine gold lines, with a millegrain edged flower cluster in the centre, grain set with rose-cut diamonds, mounted in gold, with French eagle head marks, for 18ct gold and A C, with a winged foot, maker's marks, on open carabiner bar fittings between the links, circa 1930.

Albert Clericetti was a French master jeweller who specialised in enamel and gemstone cufflinks, particularly during the 1920s and 1930s. His maker's mark, a lozenge, with a winged foot, with an A above and a C below, was registered in 1902. His addresses were, 1187 rue du Temple, 18 rue Daunou, in 1923 and 35 rue de Valois, in Paris. He produced works for Lacloche Freres.
