

Bracelet in 9ct Gold "I LOVE YOU" dated London 1971, Lilly's Attic since 2001

£688.00

Q: What kind of jewellery was worn in the 1970s?

A: The dominant metal of the 1970s was yellow gold; gold hoops, gold chains, and gold bangles were found all-over the mid-century landscape. Of course, it helped that yellow gold tones compliment natural colours very well, so it was an obvious choice for people during the period.
