

Diamond Stud Earrings in 18ct White Gold | Art Deco Revival POA

A pair of diamond stud earrings made in the 1990s, inspired by the bold, structured lines of Art Deco design.

Each earring features a round brilliant-cut diamond, approx. 0.35 carats in total, set in an octagonal frame with fine millegrain detail. The design draws clearly from the 1920s and '30s, with a crisp geometry that feels both classic and modern.

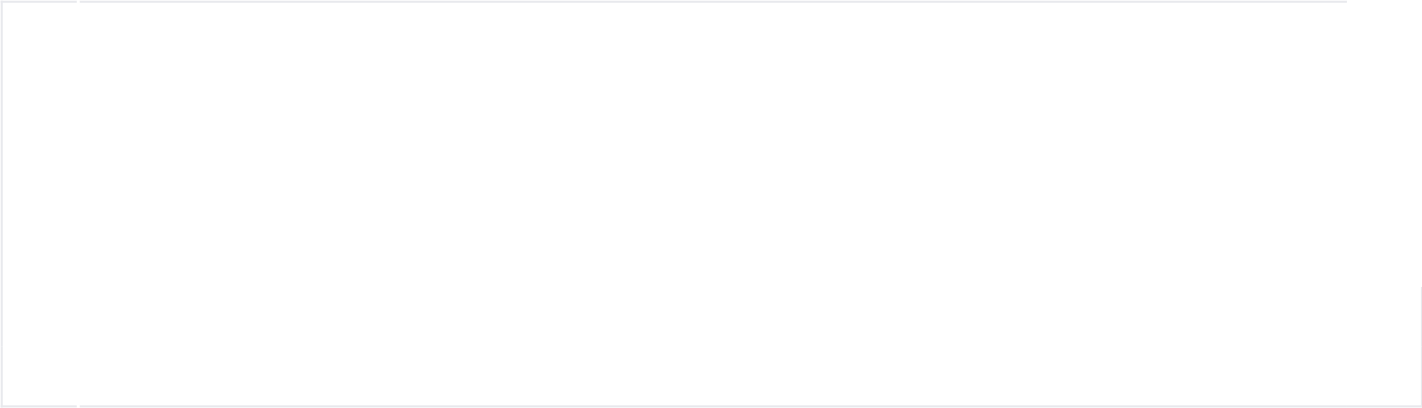

Made in 18ct white gold (hallmarked 750), they measure roughly 7mm by 7.5mm. On the ear, they catch the light with a bright, sharp flash that lifts the face and finishes any look.

A timeless and easy to wear design.
